Monthly Property Market Commentary

The month of November saw the effervescent NZ property sector take a break from its near vertical ascent in recent months, with the benchmark declining by a modest -0.6%. This was accompanied by NZ 10-year bond yields rising quite sharply from 0.51% to 0.87% although they still obviously remain at very low levels.

After months of massive outperformance relative to its offshore peers, the NZ index lagged far behind in November, with the S&P/ASX200 A-REIT Accumulation Index charging ahead by +13.2%, while the global FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Index rose by an even sharper +13.4%. A major shift in factor performances can explain much of this move, with the month seeing bond yields rising and cyclical stocks sharply outperforming. This benefitted retail property stocks which carry a heavier weight in overseas indices.

The main news item in the month was Stride Property's $220m equity raising following two acquisitions in Wellington. SPG purchased the modern, long-leased 20 Customhouse Quay for $228m on a 4.5% cap rate and the older Grant Thornton House (old ANZ building) on Lambton Quay for $84.5m. SPG doubtless plans to spin these and other office assets into a new vehicle at some point.

Other news saw Precinct Property commit to developing a second building at the Bowen Campus in Wellington at a cost of $85m. Vital Healthcare Property bought the Grace Hospital in Tauranga for $95m at an initial yield of 5.0% but with structured growth and spare development land.

Results during the month were largely in line with expectations although a dividend uplift and strong valuation update from Argosy Property saw it perform well.

Performance in the month was led by the small cap Asset Plus (APL, +8.2%) following a better than expected result and by Argosy Property (ARG, +7.2%) on similar drivers. Laggards were Kiwi Property (KPG, -3.3%), Goodman Property (GMT, -3.2%) and Precinct Property (PCT, -1.9%).

Salt Enhanced Property Fund Commentary

The Fund enjoyed an extremely strong month of relative performance in November, with a return of +1.27% compared to the -0.56% decline turned in by the S&P/NZX All Real Estate Gross Index.

After being a strong headwind in previous months, the Fund's 8% net weighting in the cheaper Australian market came up trumps in November. Mechanically calculated, the 13.7% performance gap between the Australian and NZ markets accounted for 1.09% of the 1.83% outperformance. Unsurprisingly, in such a strong month in Australia, our shorts detracted from performance, with a negative contribution of -0.33%. That said, our overall Australian exposure contributed a strongly positive +1.02%.

The largest contribution came from a takeover bid for our sizeable holding in Vitalharvest Trust (VTH, +24.4%) from a real estate subsidiary of Macquarie Group. In our view, the $1.00 price is a touch on the light side as VTH will have an exceptional year of variable rentals in 2021 in contradistinction to last year's drought; the market would re-rate VTH sharply if they could renegotiate their variable rentals into a higher fixed rental stream; and the likelihood of moving to a far higher fixed rental stream in 5 years has a lot of value. We hold some minor hopes of a bump but the cause was not helped by the manager, Primewest agreeing to sell its management contract and to sell its shares at $1.00 in the absence of a better bid.

VTH accounted for about 39% of the Fund's outperformance, so it was important but there were many other moving parts. Asset Plus (APL, +8.2%) performed well following a strong than expected result and optimism regarding their future property development plans. After being a drag in earlier months, investors woke up to just how cheap the hotel company Millennium & Copthorne Hotels (MCK, +28.1%) is in a post-Covid environment. Critically, they have no gearing, so will make it to the other side of the abyss.

There were a plethora of other winners, including overweights in GDI Property (GDI, +8.5%) as investors become more bullish on Perth property; Garda Property (GDF, +10.5%) and Eureka Group (EGH, +16.0%). Our underweight in Goodman Property (GMT, -3.2%) also assisted.

In what was an outstanding month for the Fund, headwinds were very few in number and limited in magnitude, with the modest underweight in Argosy Property (ARG, +7.2%) being the only one of any great note from the long side. The small shorts that dragged were Abacus Property (ABP, +13.0%) and GPT Group (GPT, +17.1%).
